Comment_description: I am submitting this letter on behalf of the Pine Ranch Homeowners Association. Our concern is with the proposed transmission line to be run through the City of Eagle. To that end, the association representing 52 subdivison homeowners along State Street, would like to let it's views be known.
We are opposed to the option that would erect major transmission poles and lines along State Street. We believe such lines would unfairly and unnecessarily cause considerable aesthetic, financial, and actual harm to our neighborhood.
We believe the most desirable option is to bury the lines undergound. We are aware of the cost involved and believe such cost should be born by all Idaho Power customers. Furthermore, we believe the same consideration should be afforded other communities with similar concerns. We ask nothing for ourselves we would not afford to others. At some point we all have or will benefit from the construction of transmission lines. It is a burden we all should share. There come a point in time when people of a community and/or state need to decide what type of enviornment they want to live in. The old technology of massive overhead lines has served its purpose and time. We believe it is time for Idaho to make that next step and we are willing to pay our fair share.
Our second choice would be running the lines down the Highway 44 Eagle bypass. We understand (but are not sure) that this is the option favored by Idaho Power. Although not our first choice, we believe this option preferable to State Street. There is little or no development along the bypass. Before money is spent on future development, all parties will know the impact on that area. The same cannot be said for State Street, where many people have invested in good faith in property they had every expection to believe had been developed to its final disposition.
Finally, it has come to our attention that a driving force in the decision-making process may be, not the merits of the project, but fear of legal action by potential developers of the undeveloped land along the bypass. We hope and trust that this is not the case. Make no mistake about it, however, if this is indeed the criteria by which decisions will be made, we are ready and willing to join with others using the same tactics. After all, these are our homes. We are willing to defend our homes with at least the same effort others would put into defending potential investments.
It is our hope, however, that this will not be necessary. All we ask is that the project be judged on it's merits and equity for all concerned.

Sinserely,

Charles Steinbroner
Board Member,
On behalf of, Pine Ranch Homeowners Association

Comment_description: The residents of Eagle and I strongly oppose the installation of Power poles along Eagle road. We understand the need to run additional lines, but in this day and age this work should be done in a fashion that does not harm the city in which they are installed. These lines need to be put underground. Not doing so will expose homeowners to potential health issues and will certainly materially affect property values and commerce in the area. Please prevent Idaho Power from installing these lines in our town.

Complaint_description: Want you to reconsider locating huge power lines down Hwy 44 Eagle to Star. I feel this is a huge negative to the community of Eagle and the quality of like they are trying to maintain for its residents.
