Comment_description: I am agaist the idea of public utilities selling off power generating facilities to gain short term profits. We have a need for more power generating facilities, not less, and I think the PUC should require utilities to show how they intend to replace the power generating capacity of the older facility before it is allowed to abandon the facility. If they can sell off a small operation today, what will they try to sell off next? This sell-off looks like it could be the start of a bad trend that could hurt the public later if too much capacity is vacated.
