Please describe your comment briefly:

I would like to go on record as opposed to the proposed Power Cost Adjustment (PCA) Increase to be effective October 1, 2010. As noted in your statements, with economic conditions where they are, State and local governments facing budget deficits, school districts facing the same (a.e. Boundary County and West Bonner County S.D.'s), high unemployment and home values being eroded, why does Avista think it deserves rate increases year after year? Can they not find ways to reduce their own cost like the rest of the country? As a stockholder company, I appreciate their desire for investment returns, but this is the time to start considering the consumer, both individually and in business. They should not stand alone while others in government and the private sector streamline their expenses!
