Please describe your comment briefly:

This situation is typical of so many companies lately; in the face of mass unemployment ,(and more than two years of social security skipped cost of living raises) and higher prices everywhere, Avista chooses to raise their rates, YET AGAIN, raping the consumer yet again, knowing full well people must have electricity and since they have a monopoly, take full advantage and raise costs again even while they are enjoying massive profits. I don't have words enough to express my disgust.
