I sincerely hope this will find its way to those who make decisions for this energy division.

In looking over your proposed rate increase, it seems to me that some segments of the population of the state are discriminated against. 1. Farmers are getting in increase of 20%; 2. Small commercial and industrial are both getting increased by 15%; yet Large commercial (the ones it seems can most easily afford it) are getting only 13.1%.

If the first three are forced to close down with this excessive increase, many communities will go down with them as the entire community relies on the one or two industries.

Will that give you what you want?

I am a widow and am not connected with any of the above industries so have no ax to grind. This is strictly my observation and opinion.

I feel it is time to reconsider your options.

Sincerely,

Joan Coleman

Dear Sirs:

As a residential customer who has seen rate increases almost non stop I would request that any increase requested for residential customers be denied.

One basic reason is that for the last several years the company that Idaho Power buys its power from has posted huge outrageous profits. This alone raises the assumption that Idaho Powers rate increases are funneled to this other company and it has become like the gasoline companies, who make huge profits while the customers are victimized. Idaho Powers rate increases are not proper while they or their suppliers are posting huge profits.
