Please describe your question or comment briefly:

I would like to comment on the Idaho Power proposed residential rate increase. The company states that this increase is to pay for the expenses incurred because of growth in residential customer base.

I strongly feel that growth should pay for itself, and these new customers should bear the entire cost of the new facilities. I live in an old neighborhood, and so my electricity supply has already been paid for over the past 80 years. Why should my rates increase because people are furiously building houses elsewhere in the Treasure Valley?

Thank you for considering my comments
