Please describe your question or complaint briefly:

I strongly disagree with idaho power wanting to inscrease our rates, because of the high amount of snow we had this winter. as long as I can remember electric rate increases and decreases have been tied in to snow fall amounts and with a banner year of precipatation they should decrease. They increased last year along with an increase in the fall or winter. maybe idaho power needs to cut back like most of their customers are having to do. part of the reason some of us make this home is because of the less expensive cost of living and that is why employers don't have to pay as much as they would in larger cities.
