Please describe your comment briefly:

I just heard on the radio news that not many customers appeared at last night's public meeting (Wed. 10-15). Perhaps everyone was home watching the 3rd Presidential debate? Hopefully, yes. Regardless, here is a citizen's response to this new request for funding: No, not at this time. The country's entering a recession. Put all projects aside for at least a year. Let us get through this crisis first before you raise rates for your customers. Period. Enough said. Thanks for listening!
