Please describe your comment briefly:

In the application submitted by Idaho Power, they describe 'significant achievements accomplished by Idaho Power in partnership with its customers. It illustrates the value of participation in energy efficiency programs, as well as successes in the service area that demonstrate how being energy efficient empowers everyone to control costs and conserve precious resources.'

So, to reward the residential customers for energy conservation, and to empower us to 'control costs', Idaho Power proposes to raise our rates?? This is entirely inappropriate, and sends the wrong message to consumers, especially the residential and smaller consumers who cannot afford yet ANOTHER rate increase!
