Please describe your comment briefly:

I would like more of my electricity coming from solar sources. I would like to install some solar panels on my own property and would appreciate financial incentives to make this more feasible, because I am retired and living on a fixed income.

Jeff Ruprecht, 841 Rim View Lane E., Twin Falls ID 83301

Please assure that all future plans for electricity production in Idaho are based on renewable energy sources. The opportunities abound: expand solar sources, maximize the existing wind powered generation (too often they are off the grid, maximize all hydro power sources and add low overhead generators in canals where there is a drop in elevation. Please avoid fossil fuel electricity production that increase carbon emissions--coal fired plants are a detriment to the survival of the planet. Be thoughtful about efficient energy transmissions that facilitate moving resources when the demand and supply shifts but please do whatever you can to minimize negative environmental impact--we only have this one chance on the earth. Thanks!

Please describe your comment briefly:

Idaho needs to stop pandering to the nuclear and US weapons industries by building more nuclear power facilities because these are liable to accidents-- either from earthquake and other natural hazards but also to terrorists. Idaho must plan more solar and geothermal power facilities, more home & corporate biz conservation efforts, less coal-fired plants, and continue so far with natural gas facilities as long as the gas does not come from fracking in this state, at least.
