Please describe your comment briefly:

Idaho Power has a number of cases before the IPUC, some for rate decreases, some for rate increases. But as one would expect, the net result is a rate increase in favor of Idaho Power. Much could be said about how the average working people, single parents, the elderly on fixed income, and just about all of the 99% can't afford yet another rate increase. And while this subject is being debated, we learn that Idaho Power has no shame in seeing J. La Mount Keen as No. 2 on the list of 'Idhao's Best-Paid Executives.' It hardly seems that Idaho Power needs its rate payers to pay more money so its president can move up the list to No. 1.
