Please describe your comment briefly:

Commissioners, I understand that Idaho Power has application with IPUC to reduce incentives for homeowners to install photovoltaic panels. In my opinion, this type of thinking belongs in the last century. We must look forward to new and cleaner technologies, not stuck in the past, burning tons of coal with the resultant pollutants.

Idaho Power could be leading the way by building solar farms and taking advantage of the wonderful solar resource we are blessed with in Idaho, decreasing our dependence on fossil fuels. Since it seems that Idaho Power has no interest in building a solar power plant, the least the company could do would be to provide incentives for others to contribute solar generated power to the grid and reduce our fossil fuel dependence.

For the record, I do not have solar panels and net metering, but I fully support those who do.

Thanks, Tim
