Comment: I disagree with Idaho Power attempting to make the changes in our net metering. We always hear about energy conservation and cutting down on our use of energy. Those of us that have alternate energy sources should not be penalized for conservation and trying to keep our energy costs down. I have been told over a period of time the cost of installing an alternate energy source will pay itself off. With Idaho Power's proposed plan, it penalizes those of us whom have chosen to extend and protect our energy source through conservation. I believe Idaho Power is going against what they say in the media about conservation by bringing this case to the PUC.
