Please describe your comment briefly:

I was very disappointed to learn that Idaho Power is asking to suspend the A/C Cool Credit program and other demand response programs. I believe these programs play a very important role in keeping costs down and reducing impacts to the environment. I am afraid suspending this program and others may lead to their elimination. I am also worried that this suspension will lower the participation rate in program like this. It also sends a bad message in terms of energy efficiency, if Idaho Power can get the power elsewhere they will not prioritize cheap and easy programs like this one. This is an easy way for homeowners to reduce power use and the program should not be suspended.

Sincerely,

Courtney Washburn
