Please describe your comment briefly:

The two most significant factors that contributed to the amount required to 'true-up' this year's PCA were: 1.8 million megawatt-hours lower actual hydro generation than the 2012-2013 forecasted amount, and lower actual market energy prices compared to the 2012-2013 prices.

So if I understand this they intentionally reduced hydro generation because resale of energy was lower than expected. So profit for IDACORP was the motivation for reduced flow. We should not pay for their faulty business practices.

Please describe your comment briefly:

Since we are being told that we are going to pay more for our power, the I would like to know what bonuses and benefit pacackages the top poeple in IdaCorp made last year. There was plenty of water last year, yet we paid more for power. Is this really a increase to cover costs or is it a way to maintain a profit margin?
