employ] peak-hour demand response programs” like the A/C Cool and Peak Rewards programs. The Company relied on the same rationale for amending the Peak Rewards contract.

The settlement approved in Order No. 32776 also provided that residential customers participating in the A/C Cool Credit program be provided a “continuity” payment of $1.00 per month for the three summer months of 2013. The settlement also provided for continuity payments for those irrigation customers voluntarily participating in the four Peak Reward options. In addition to continuity payments, the parties requested that the Commission schedule an informal prehearing conference to set public workshops and develop a procedural schedule so that the parties and other interested persons may evaluate changes to the demand response programs for calendar year 2014 and beyond. The Order approving the temporary suspension directed Staff to convene an informal prehearing conference for the parties to develop a schedule for the public workshops. Order No. 32776 at 8.

In the FlexPeak Order, the Commission approved changes to the program which will reduce the cost of the program by about $500,000 for 2013. Order no. 32805 at 3. As with the A/C Cool and Peak Rewards programs, the Commission directed that the public workshops also address “how to continue the FlexPeak program in the future.” Id. at 4. In accordance with our prior Orders mentioned above, this Notice schedules the informal prehearing conference to further evaluate the three demand response programs. The Commission also directed that those entities already granted intervention shall be deemed parties in the new case. Order No. 32776 at 8. Staff counsel has advised the Commission that the parties in the prior cases have consented to the prehearing conference.
