Comment: As a ratepayer, I oppose the idea that customers with on-site generation may be put into separate rate classes. What is the plan for the new rate structure? Why has this not been disclosed? As someone who is interested in installing rooftop solar in the next 5-10 years, I do not want to feel like I am being put in a separate class, or essentially being punished for choosing to alleviate the burden of energy production. The decision to produce green energy should not result in discrimination.

Respectfully submitted,

Maureen Valko
