Comment: Idaho Power is proposing to put solar users into a separate customer class moving away from retail - value solar credits towards a lower value compensation plan for net meterers.

This disempowers those whom have already invested in solar as well as discourages future family solar investment. This outsourced clean energy solutions to larger utility subscription services which if the 14% subscription commitment to Idaho Power's Solar Project after one year versus 110 families which installed solar through the Solarize the Valley Program (2 Years) indicates which model has been more successful.

There needs to be a multilateral approach to clean energy solutions that include and encourage families and communities to invest as well as larger utilities.

Please deny these net metering policy changes as proposed by Idaho Power.

It is time for you to listen to and serve your communities and not the utilities and other special interests.

Comment: I am completely confused as to why Idaho Power wants to put rate payers that use solar power, into a separate class.

These rate payers are the forward thinking, and concerned people that care about the future of our earths resources. The solar users have already paid forward large sums of money, because of their concerns, why is it necessary for Idaho Power to hold these rate payers hostage?
