We have been paying our power bill and seeing increases taking place on our farms to the point we don't even break even. This is a serious matter and we feel they need to tighten their belts like we have had to. If we can't farm any more where will their money come from?

Please describe your comment briefly:

I understand that you are considering giving Rocky Mountain power an 8% rate raise in the standard Residentail Service. May I remind you that according to our NATIONAL GOVERNMENT there has been no inflation for the past two years!! Hence all of us who are retired and living on fixed incomes have seen no raises in pay for two years!! How can you justify an 8% increase in our electric bill when we are already having to deal with other cost of living increases (that the government says did not happen, i.e. food bills, heating expenses, medical etc.).

Unfortuanly this non increase in cost of living has also applied to many of my neighbors who have jobs but have not seen a cost of living adjustment in their pay for the last two years either. Their employers have not been able to give pay raises and in fact in many cases have reduced the amount of hours the employee works in effect reducing their pay!

Do what is right for the public!

Respectifuly

Clint
