On July 3, 2017, PacifiCorp dba Rocky Mountain Power applied for a Commission Order granting Certificates of Public Convenience and Necessity (CPCN) to construct or acquire four new Wyoming wind projects with a total combined capacity of 860 megawatts (MW). Further, the Company requests CPCNs for several transmission facilities, portions of which are associated with the Company's Gateway West transmission project. The Company also requested approval of binding ratemaking treatment for the investment in the combined projects, in accordance with Idaho Code § 61-541. The Company asserts that the projects will provide significant economic benefits for the Company's customers, and that the projects are time-limited due largely to federal production tax credits. The Company stresses that the tax benefits depend on the Company quickly gaining regulatory approval, and thus requests a final Order by March 30, 2018.

On July 26, 2017, the Commission issued a Notice of Application and Order setting an intervention deadline of August 8, 2017, and directing Staff to develop a procedural schedule for the processing of this matter. Monsanto Company, PacifiCorp Idaho Industrial Customers, and the Idaho Irrigation Pumpers Association intervened. After convening with the parties, Staff recommends that the Commission adopt the following schedule, agreed upon by the parties.

With this Order, we adopt the proposed schedule, and schedule a technical hearing for the parties to testify before the Commission.
