Re: Custom Rate
Intermountain Gas B.
August 15, 2008

The facts do not show the need for a raise in rates by this company much less a 12% increase. Drilling is massive and supply is vast. Getting it to market is really not their responsibility, unless they are hoping to corner
that market, too.

We certainly do not need to fold while pay in these fat cats for big surplus and fat living.
Please do not approve this increase.

Sincerely,
Bob & Joan Siorn

Regarding Intermountain Gas request for a rate increase. This is totally absurd for them to ask for a raise. I read where we were given a decrease in our rates for last year, Well i did not see any decrease in my rates if anything it went up a lot. Also the rate increase they want for people who have both gas heat and a gas water heater are discriminatory it punishes those who have both they don't consider the number of people in the house hold like mine where it is just me now. I know when and if we do get a decrease it is only one sided at a set amount. It is very funny that a request for a rate increase is occuring right after another company bought them out they must think people are stupid.

there should be no rate hikes. with economic hard times & job layoffs, it is hard enough for people to keep up with their bills & utilities. since there is no competition for where we get our services, they think they can get a hike any time they want! Idaho Power got a hike to pay for natural gas to power their power generators, thus causing extra demand for gas, and causing higher rates for nat. gas! WE ARE PAYING FOR THAT GAS TWICE! IS THAT FAIR TO THE PEOPLE? these hikes should be more thought out beyond the utility companies. I say no more hikes for at least 18 months!, and only if & when the economy improves! also, with new housing and businesses coming in, they are already getting more income every day.
