Comment_description: Dear Sirs,

I am a network Central Office Supervisor for Qwest Communications. I live in Pocatello but have central office responsibilities in both Eastern and Central Idaho.

I am writing in regards to Qwest's desire to be deregulated in the major cities in Idaho. I believe that the needed level of competition exists in the major markets that Qwest serves in the state. There are multiple competitive wireless offerings in these areas which have significantly reduced the need and / or desire for traditional wire lines.

I am a line supervisor and I have seen the slowdown in orders for dial tone. I recognize that the economy has cooled down but I have seen slow economic conditions before which did not effect our business near as much. I have reduced manpower by 7 technicians over the past few months. This represents about 1/3 of my work force.

Qwest needs and deserves to be able to conduct business in a fashion that is equitable to both the consumer and the company. The wireless competitors have that ability today. We at Qwest need to be able to operate under similar conditions. I believe the circumstances warrant it. We have been given permission to enter the long distance market. Part of that process was to demonstrate that we(qwest) are providing an environment where competition can and does exist in Idaho.

Please consider allowing Qwest the flexibility we have earned to be able to compete more effectively.

Respectfully,
Dave Moon Central Office Manager, Eastern and Central Idaho

Comment_description: I support Qwest's application for price deregulation of residential phone service and small business service. Qwest is at a regulative disadvantage due the the proliferation of cell phones which are not regulated. Cells phones are taking away a large portion of the RBOC's business because subscribers are disconnecting thier land lines. This will ultimately hurt Qwest's ability to be profitable and stay in business.
