Comment_description: This is my second comment regarding this case. Why should metered residential bear the blunt of this increase with a 64.7% increase while the metered increase is only 10% with unlimited water use year around? Again, how does one become unmetered?

Comment_description: I don't understand where all of these utility,s expect to get more money from people that are living from pay check to pay check . With all the increases that have allready been aproved for eletric and gas how much more can they suck out of the public.I say no to that much increase.
