Please describe your comment briefly:

I am receiving a small pension and an increase of 26% on my water bill would push me over the edge financially. Falls Water received a rate increase over a year ago, so why do they need another one? A 26% rate increase is totally out of line. They also plan on decreasing the amount of water allowed before higher rates kick in. If the 26% rate increase is approved, I will turn off all my water for outside irrigation and let the lawn and trees go dead. I don't have any choice, I can't pay the inflated water rates. Just for your information, Las Vegas increased their water rates, but it was for only 10%. What justification does a rural water utility have for a 26% rate increase? A lot of people, not only myself will not be able to afford these excessive water bill increases.
