Please describe your question or comment briefly:
In 2002 morning view nearly doubled our rates with the promise of more reliable supply and better pressure. We are even paying an extra $5 a month to help ensure that. Here we are now with them wanting to raise rates again with the same promises while he is about to get an NOV from the DEQ for water pressure that violates code. I believe the health limit is 20 PSI and according to the pressure gage they have installed, it is sitting at 14 PSI right now. If he was not able to make improvements with the last rate increase, what assurances do we have that he will follow through this time?
