Comment: I have a concern that there is not adequate water pressure at my nearest hydrant to effectively combat a fire. After purchasing my home I realized that there was extremely low water pressure and, in fact, I needed to install an expansion tank and booster to be able to use the upstairs shower. After realizing this I began to inquire and came to find out that our local fire department feels that there is not adequate pressure in my area. This a a significant concern to me as it puts my home at risk.
Thanks
