Comment_description: in regard to the proposed 18% increase in rates, i find it to be an outrageous amount to increase our rates. we try to keep our lawn nice and green in the summer and as it is now, we pay at least $150 upward every two months. i guess we could be like some other states and just let our yards burn up in the summer. i haven't heard of anyone's salary being increased by 18%! With all the new connections, i would think that would help cover some of the costs. the new connections should have been absorbed by the price of the new home sold or the contractors. I am opposed to this increase. i just don't feel it is justified. thank you

Comment_description: The rate increase requested by United Water is not Justified. they just received a 8.8%increase last fall. They have added 79.000 customers in 5years. If their infrastructure costs are high, it sounds like poorplanning on the company's part.I can see a increase in operating and maintenance costs, but 18%is awful lot for customers to pay.As a public utility, they have a set rate of return.They are making money. They do not need to get greedy.If this passed,it would give them a 26.8 %increase in one year.
