Dear Ms. Jewell,

United Water is becoming SUEZ. This change is part of our global initiative to unify a complex, multi-brand structure into one recognizable name. With this brand change, we seek to help prepare for the global resource revolution and lead the way in building a more sustainable future for every community we serve.

Our new brand is designed to provide the company's local operations with even greater access to an extensive global network of innovators in water, wastewater, waste recovery and recycling. It is important to know this is a change in name only and we will maintain the same superior local service you have come to expect. No costs in the program will be passed onto customers. There is no change in leadership or ownership, simply a joining of all of our global companies under one name: SUEZ.

We look forward to continuing our great relationship with you, our customers and other local stakeholders under this new name. If you have any questions regarding this change or are interested in learning more about our global brand, please contact Public Affairs Manager Mark Snider at (208) 362-7328 or mark.snider@unitedwater.com.

Thank you.

Sincerely,
